FCCLA teams up with Glogster EDU in the Virtual Poster STAR Event

Participants use Glogster EDU to create interactive online posters

Reston, Virginia, January 11, 2012 – The FCCLA is taking posters online with Glogster EDU (<http://edu.glogster.com>), a web-based learning platform which empowers students and teachers with the technology to create Glogs— online multimedia posters incorporating text, photos, videos, graphics, audio, drawings, data attachments, and more.

For the Virtual Poster STAR Event, participants must create a Glog related to one the following categories: Eat Right, Be Fit, and Make Healthy Choices. Any nationally affiliated FCCLA chapter may submit an entry. To be eligible, participants must register for the STAR event and post complete projects (Glog, project identification page, FCCLA planning process summary page, and bibliography) on the school/FCCLA chapter website or wiki. View the project requirements for a detailed description of each component.

The deadline for first-round submission is February 1, 2012. Twenty finalists will be invited to present their Glog and give an oral presentation at the 2012 National Leadership Conference in Orlando, Florida during the summer. If you have any questions, please contact FCCLA's STAR Events staff at starevents@fcclainc.org.
